

March of the White Elephants

Year: 2015

Director: Craig Tanner

Executive Producer: Dan Jawitz

Producer: Neil Brandt

Link: <https://vimeo.com/140732142>

Duration: 52 min

Synopsis: Reveals the real legacy of the FIFA World Cup and how FIFA has become a modern day parasite abusing countries for the love of football. While 2010's FIFA world cup was a high point in national pride, the aftermath has left much to be desired: State of the art stadiums that were built to stage a four-week tournament will stand idle, soaking up funds needed for basic services and for health, housing and education. The filmmakers visit the sites of the last two World Cups, South Africa and Brazil, to get testimony from social activists who make it clear that FIFA is a modern day parasite abusing countries and exploiting their nation's passion for football

Festivals: Rio International Film Festival
